Mr. Locker said it was gratifying to note that the Labor Zionist movement would have the largest single group of delegates to the World Zionist Congress to be held next month in Basle, Switzerland.

"For the last ten years labor Zionists were the decisive force in building Palestine," he commented. "We deplore the fact that it should be under a Labor Government in England that the drastic measures of suppression are being applied which, carried to their logical conclusion, would mean the liquidation of Zionism. For this policy the Zionist movement must resist with all its power.

"We have not lost hope, however, that the stand taken by the Jewish population in Palestine will help better counsels to prevail within the British Government and that the Labor Government will return to the great tradition of friendship toward the Jewish people and Zionism."

Urge World Council Of Jews And Christians

A plan for an International Council of Christians and Jews received the unanimous approval of the board of directors of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, meeting at the Hotel Commodore in New York.

The proposal was offered by Dr. Henry Noble MacCracken, president emeritus of Vassar College, who is educational consultant to the National Conference. It provided that such an International Council "apply to the United Nation's Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization for affiliation."

Dr. MacCracken announced a grant of $10,000 from Lessing J. Rosenwald, president of the American Council of Judaism, to help set up an International Council. The board approved a $2,000,000 budget for 1947 to expand the activities of the national group.

The session was the first full report meeting made by the National Conference on its International Conference of Christians and Jews held at Oxford, England, at which 150 representatives of all faiths from fifteen countries were present. Dr. Everett R. Clinchy, president of the National Conference, in presenting his annual report, stressed the global proportions assumed by the work of the organization.

Asserting that "the greatest social force in the twentieth century is the new science of human relations," Dr. Clinchy declared "the development of new relationships among Catholics, Protestants and Jews" was "basic to a firm stand against materialistic trends, and [illegible] to a durable

He pointed out that the World Council of Churches "this year unprecedently summoned its ninety-four constituent bodies to civic cooperation amongst Protestants, Catholics and Jews," and added that "Jews today, who watched

Asks U. S. Congress Waive Quota System

A resolution urging that Congress increase the number of immigrants the United States can profitably absorb was adopted at Boston, Mass., by the national convention of Hadassah, the women's Zionist organization.

Until such action was taken, it said, all measures should be taken to insure that all immigrants now admissible under existing quotas actually entered the country and that this year's quota be immediately allocated for European refugees and displaced persons.

"We propose further," the resolution said, "that Congressional action be taken to waive, at least on a temporary basis, and for the exclusive benefit of refugees and displaced persons, the present system of allocating fixed proportions of quota visas according to countries of origin.

"We further strongly urge that to expedite the implementation of these proposals the present inadequate visa service in Europe be improved so as to insure that the entire number of persons admissible under present quota regulations will receive speedy clearance."

The resolution was proposed by Mrs. Nathan D. Perlman of New York, chairman of the organization's American Affairs Committee.

Resolutions adopted favored the establishment of a Jewish state in Palestine, deplored terrorism in Palestine, upheld resistance to the "illegal and arbitrary" policy of Great Britain in Palestine, and recommended coordination of Zionist activities in the United States.

Appreciation was voted to Presi[illegible]

upon President Truman and Secretary of State Byrnes "to take decisive and practical steps to bring an end to the present repressive British regime in Palestine; effect the immediate entry of displaced Jews into Palestine; and bring fulfillment to the American policy on Palestine through the establishment of an independent Jewish state."

At a closed session, the 1,000 delegates heard two Zionist leaders defend and oppose the plan for a "viable Jewish State in an adequate part of Palestine," which was worked out by the executive

Refugees To Enter Palestine Under Quota

The Palestine Government published a communiqué announcing that 1,050 Jews refugees now detained in Cyprus camps would be permitted to enter the Holy Land under quotas until the middle of January.

Palestine legislation provided interim immigration for 1,500 Jews each month, beginning on the fifteenth. Of the quota for 1,500 from Nov. 15 to Dec. 14, 843 persons now detained at Athlit near Haifa, will be released, while 300 permits will go to detainees on Cyprus.

Under the quota for the month ending Jan. 14, 750 certificates will be granted to Cyprus inmates and the remainder will be allocated to relatives of Palestine Jewish residents and persons in displaced persons' camps in Germany. These 1,050 detained immigrants in Cyprus admissible during the next two months will be selected in consultation with the Jewish Agency for Palestine.

Emil Ghory, a member of the Palestine Arab Higher Committee, said that "Arabs consider this act another concession to Jewish terrorism and encouragement to Jews to increase their efforts for illegal immigration. The continuation of such measures is bound to increase tension in Palestine."

A Jewish Agency spokesman said that "it is with disappointment and shock that we learn that the monthly quota of 1,500 is being continued until Jan. 14."

of the Jewish Agency for Palestine.

Dr. Nahum Goldmann, [illegible]

They also called for acceptance of the majority decisions of the World Zionist Congress scheduled for Basle, Switzerland, on Dec. 9.

Dr. Goldmann said there was no way of knowing whether the British would accept the agency's plan for a viable state which has the support of the United States, but he added that he believed "Great Britain is keen for a solution and knows that despite Arab shouting

Refugees From DP Camps Aided On Way

Twelve hundred refugees, intercepted by British destroyers off Palestine while they were aboard the Panamanian ship San Demetrio early this month, came from four displaced persons camps in the United States zone of Germany, according to information furnished by the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration office in London by investigators in France.

The immigrants were all of Polish origin and carried collective transit visas issued by French authorities in Munich for trips to Bolivia and other Latin-American countries and to Ethiopia.

Concerned over reports that the UNRRA supplies, workers and trucks figured in getting the refugees to Marseilles and La Coitat (French port of embarkation), the relief agency started an investigation.

According to UNRRA investigators two camps for the immigrants were found at La Coitat and four at Marseilles. The camps are organized and run by the Federation des Sociétés Juives de France, it was alleged.

Three shiploads of refugees temporarily housed at the Marseilles and La Coitat camps have been sent out from La Coitat this year. The first left in March, the second in July and the latest contingent boarded the San Demetrio on October 19.

Twenty trucks bearing French civilian licenses and apparently purchased from United States Army surplus stocks were used to transport the refugees from Marseilles for the [illegible]

Exhort U. N. Not To Delay Refugee Help

A memorandum urging the speedy establishment of the proposed International Refugee Organization was submitted to the United Nations' General Assembly by the World Jewish Congress, the American Jewish Conference and the Board of Deputies of British Jews.

The memorandum pointed out that there were 25,000 Jews in displaced-persons' camps in Germany, Austria and Italy and thousands more unsettled refugees in other countries. Any delay in setting up the IRO, it warned, would "contribute to the further breakdown of the moral and physical well-being of the displaced persons and refugees."

Specifically, the memorandum exhorted the United Nations in adopting the IRO's constitution, to provide an "adequate budget" for its operation. The present allocation of $5,000,000 for the large-scale resettlement of Jewish displaced persons and refugees, it observed, is inadequate for so vast a program and far below the $60,000,000 figure originally recommended by the committee of finance in London in July.

Holding that reparation would inflict "unbearable psychological hardship on the Jewish D.P.'s," the memorandum asked also that the IRO's constitution, as finally adopted, recognise the "special position of the Jewish refugees and that it define his status as being expressly eligible for resettlement."

Children Being Settled In France

Two thousand children, vanguard of 7,000 Polish Jews to whom the French Government has granted visas, are en route to France and should be relocated by the end of the month, the Joint Distribution Committee reported.

The remainder of the 7,000 are to be brought from Poland in the coming weeks.

Acceptance of the Polish group by the French followed a report that Zionists overseas had objected last year to transfer of 1,000 Jewish children from displaced persons camps in Germany and Austria to foster homes in England. The Zionists said such children might lose their religious identity or if sent to Palestine later might cut into the regular quota of immigrants that the Zionists were trying to establish.

In last year's project the British reportedly were prepared to grant temporary visas and had arranged a special camp on an estate that had been lent. The British were said also to have received financial support from Jews in England to fly the children over in RAF transports.

Placement of Jewish children in foster homes, it was pointed out, was no new project. According to the National Refugee Service, 1,500 Jewish children have been brought into the United States alone on this basis since 1933.

The service also has estimated that another 1,000 should be accommodated, if they did not all arrive at once. They would be placed in cities throughout the country.

A New York spokesman for the Zionist organization said the local group was not aware of any opposition in recent months to resettlement of Jewish children in countries outside Palestine.

The Zionists, he said, were not necessarily opposed to such resettlement as a temporary matter, but would regard any important step in this direction by the British as a "palliative" and "diversionary move" to obscure the whole problem of resettling Jews in Palestine.

The spokesman estimated that 200,000 Jewish refugees were in the British and American zones of occupation. He said limiting resettlement to groups of children or even all of them would "only scratch the surface" of the problem of displaced persons.

THE THINGS THAT MONEY CAN'T BUY

HEALTH; A HAPPY HOME; opportunity for your children; your own peace of mind—these are priceless gifts. You can't buy them with money.

But reasonable financial security, based on a planned programme of personal saving, can help to guard and guarantee them.

Take your Victory Bonds, for example. Fussy reasoning to have them marked away as a financial reserve, always "not right" in time of opportunity or need. Pretty convincing proof, too, that you really can save when there's a real saving job to be done.

Perhaps today's rising costs or other factors are making it hard for you to carry on your savings programme. By the time you have met all your expenses, perhaps there's mighty little left for that all-important item marked "Savings".

Try putting savings first, not last, on your budget list. Owe yourself a definite amount each month, and make sure you collect it. It means careful budgeting, and parting off buying a good many things you'd like to have. But never forget—this is your share of what you earn. This is the part of your income which will help to assure for yourself and your family all the things that money can't buy.

PERHAPS YOU are already one of the hundreds of thousands of thrifty Canadians who have a savings account with the Royal Bank. If not, we invite you to come in and open one. Perhaps your first deposit will have to be small; don't let that worry you. The important thing is to start. It will be a pleasure to serve you.

conceded that they could have been UNRRA rations since no labels distinguished the sources from which the packages of rations came.

UNRRA officials maintain that some refugees had the idea that the rations came from UNRRA stocks, but UNRRA has proof to the contrary. They hold that aside from local purchases by the immigrants themselves, the entire victualling of the refugees for the sea journey was done by a Marseilles agency that provided temporary lodging for them.

URGE COUNCIL

5,000,000 Europeans of their faith systematically liquidated, no longer want to go it alone."

A campaign against European anti-Semitism as one of the immediate aims of the International Conference was stressed both by Dr. Clinchy and Dr. MacCracken. The latter reported that the Oxford conference had selected Zurich, Switzerland, as the site for the establishment of a "workshop" where forty representatives of various fields "will tackle the problems of discrimination in Europe today."

Dr. Israel Goldstein, former president of the Zionist Organization of America, termed anti-Semitism "one of the arch-evils of our time," and a "test question" for the conference. He praised the hospitality shown to delegates of all faiths at Oxford. He said he was gratified to find that "last summer, when at Paris statesmen were wrangling, religious statesmen at Oxford were seeking and finding one another in endeavoring to achieve spiritual brotherhood."

Basil O'Connor, chairman of the American Red Cross who also attended the Oxford sessions, said the phrase "charity begins at home" constituted "only half the problem". No peace can result, he emphasized, "unless we contribute to the peace of the whole world as well as at home. As long as a Jewish problem remains in Germany, or a Negro problem in this country, the entire world will be affected, he added.

FARM WIFE, OVERCOME BY FLAMES, RECOVERS AND RESCUES CHILDREN
Mrs. ALCIDE SIMARD WINS
Dow Award

THE DOW AWARD
is a citation for outstanding heroism and includes as a tangible expression of appreciation, a $100 Canada Savings Bond. Winners are selected by The Dow Award Committee, a group of editors of leading Montreal daily newspapers.
The DOW AWARD
Only a charred wall remains of the Simard farm home near Chatham, Ont. It was destroyed by a raging fire which might have ended in tragedy — but for the heroism of young Mrs. Alcide Simard.
Awakened by the smoke, she rushed for her children. Sheltering her 18-months-old baby with her night-gown and holding the arm of another child, she dashed for the kitchen door. But the smoke became overpowering and she collapsed. Aroused a few moments later by the screams of her children, she smashed her way through a pane of glass and pushed them to safety. She then climbed through the window and collapsed again! Her husband, in the barn some distance away when the fire started, arrived on the scene and completed the rescue.
Mrs. Alcide Simard, of Tilbury township, Ont., deserves sincere praise for her heroic action. We are proud to present her with The Dow Award.

A REPLY TO DR. I. M. RABINOWITCH

By Dr. M. Pivnick, of Toronto

Now, when the great display of forensic pyrotechnics has shot its bolt, we can take stock of what has happened, and propose to do so in a most objective and dispassionate manner, although we confess, it is difficult, indeed, to be objective at a time like this. We do not intend to go into long polemics with the speaker; we do not wish to get involved in a dialectical discussion of pure reason. We would rather apply a few simple rules of common sense and propriety, which govern our day to day conduct and behaviour.

Our quarrel with Dr. Rabinowitch is not whether so-called Political Zionism is right or wrong. Ahaad Haam (Asher Ginsburg), one of our greatest thinkers, did not subscribe to the idea. Dr. Magnes does not think it is a solution to the Jewish problem. They rather believe in a spiritual Zionism which cannot be divorced from Judaism itself.

Our quarrel with the speaker is over the wisdom of choosing such a highly inflammable subject at such a tragic period in the existence of our people. And his greater sin consists in delivering such an address before a Gentile audience, which was snapped up by the daily press and broadcast across the country, and brought more grist to the mill of the Jew-baiters and anti-Semites.

"Thy destroyers and thy traducers shall arise from thine own midst", cried out Isaiah, many, many centuries ago from the hills of Zion, and his prophetic vision had peered into the distant future, even to our own day and age. If cheap publicity and sensationalism were not the prime motive, claims to the contrary notwithstanding, then this was a golden opportunity to put the Jew in a favourable perspective in the eyes of his neighbors.

Were I asked to address the Canadian Club, I would choose first of all a non-controversial subject, at least one that is not charged with so much dynamite at the present moment. But, my main object would be to put the Jew in the proper light, and God knows we have been in the shadows long enough. Instead of unity in Israel, which we so badly need today, Dr. Rabinowitch brought strife and dissension, and pulled down an avalanche of criticism and contumely upon himself, and caused a nuisance to his hosts for good measure.

He could have told them the story of that beautiful episode in our history, where the poet Lessing, a Gentile, loved his great friend, Moses Mendelsohn, a Jew. Lessing wrote "Nathan The Wise", a play that he dedicated to his friend, wherein Moses Mendelsohn is the leading character. And in that same play he reincarnates the Jewish soul, and paints the Jew in the most glowing terms.

The speaker might have touched upon that great controversy over the Talmud, which took place in Germany several hundred years ago. Joseph Pfferkorn, the apostate, attacked Talmudic literature, and insisted that the Talmud be burnt. But John Reuchlin (1455-1522), the Gentile, and saintly soul, interceded in our behalf, and that great work was saved from the flames.

Furthermore, a book cannot be burnt as was so foolishly demonstrated by the Nazis, neither can it be banned by the Pope. When a book is put on the "Index Expurgatoris", it immediately gains readers by the millions, because curiosity is aroused.

Our history simply bristles with great names, and any one of them would have made a good topic. In my mind's eye, like a panoramic view passes a whole array of great men like Moses Maimonides, Moses Crescas, the Abrabanels, Rashi, Saadya Gaon, Elijah Wilna, Jehuda Halevi, Baruch Spinoza, and many others.

The ancients said, that Jupiter first makes mad those whom he wishes to destroy, which is the same as Goethe saying about reason becoming nonsense: "Vernunft wird Unsinn".

Dr. Rabinowitch might have told his Gentile audience of the Jewish contribution to the world in religion, music, literature, the humanities, ethics, philosophy, homiletics, etc. "Job", a religio-philosophic work, considered a classic in world literature, would have made an excellent subject. He could have chosen Milton's "Paradise Lost", and explained that this great poem was actually taken from "Genesis", and of course elaborated upon by the great poet.

And lastly, were he not inclined to go to Jewish sources, he could have spoken on such an innocuous topic as "metabolism". Even "existentialism" would have been better. It is a current European fad, which is a fundamentally honest if painfully involved quest of man's correct position in the design of life, and this brings to mind Leonid Andryev's "Anathema", wherein David, the soda-water vendor, is the main character. David sits on the shores of the Black Sea in Odessa and talks to the waves: "Waves, where do you come from, where do you go from here?" This is the eternal riddle of life and death.

But Dr. Rabinowitch chose to go to the hornet's nest; he stirred up a lot of trouble with no credit to himself, and a good deal of harm to the minority group to which he, nollens volens, belongs.

Then let us take a peep at the authorities he quotes. Rabbi Gudemann, chief rabbi of Vienna, was ultra Reform, and probably was 100% German of the Mosaic faith, and what would he have to do with those Ost Yuden (Eastern Jews) and their movements? They were looked upon as "untouchables" by their German co-religionists.

I'm not surprised to learn that Rabbi Isaac Wise, father of American Reform Judaism was against Zionism, but to call Zionists traitors to true Judaism, is really hitting below the belt. To expunge, "If I forget thee Jerusalem let my right hand forget its cunning", from the prayer-book, and call this true Judaism is a lot of balderdash.

Finally, Dr. Rabinowitch comes to Moses Hess, and this in colloquial English is a pippin. He tells us that "Rome And Jerusalem" was burnt by the author's own family in order to rid the world of it. Here he shows ignorance of the author's background. The Hess family were assimilated; Hess himself was an anarchist-socialist, and strayed far away from his kith and kin. But in "Rome And Jerusalem", he saw the error of his ways, as did Dr. Theodor Herzl after him, and not unlike Herzl, he returned to his own people.

The example is poorly chosen, and the analogy does not hold water. It is tantamount to saying, that "The Jew Suss", by Leon Feuchtwanger, is an inferior book, because it was burnt by the S.S. gangs of Hitler. The Talmud, which the speaker so copiously quotes, certainly couldn't be of much value, because it also was relegated to the flames by the same hoodlums. And by the way, who was it that set up Hess's family as authorities on good literature? Verily, I say, this is puerility personified.

The speaker drinks deeply at the fountains of wisdom gushing forth from the subterranean wells of the Jewish Fellowship in Britain through their spout, the "Jewish Outlook". Their principle is, that the Jews are a religious community only, and they dissociate themselves completely from the Zionist idea and all its aspirations.

Well, this really takes one's breath away, and I hazard a guess that this is another sect of religious crackpots, that we find among other nationalities. There are, for instance, the Dervishes of Africa whom Ferdinand Lassile so eloquently described in letters to his father during his travels in the Near East and Palestine. They work themselves up into a religious frenzy, and in their ecstasy they even flagellate themselves. There are the "Holy Rollers", the Seventh Day Adventists, and so on. We Jews have the Karaites who sit in complete darkness during the Sabbath, because the Bible says: "Do not light fire in all your dwellings."

The Jewish Fellowship is only a very small segment of the people, and they do not feel the pulse-beat of the great majority. I, for one, am not prepared to accept the dictum of the "Jewish Outlook". I would rather take an opinion from such world figures as Rabbi Stephen Wise, Rabbi Abba Hillel Silver and Dr. Nahum Goldmann. They're with us, they're part and parcel of the Jewish scene, and represent a very large section of American Jewry.

The "Jewish Outlook" charges Zionists with fostering anti-Semitism in Britain and anti-British sentiment in America and hatred by the Arabs. This accusation is as flimsy as a thread of gossamer, and just as inconsequential. Ernest Renan (1823-1892) lived long before modern Zionism was on the scene, yet he was the anti-semite-Semite in France. The Jews were driven out from England about the 12th or 13th century, and we recall that Rabbi Menasheh ben Israel of Amsterdam, went to England during the time of Oliver Cromwell to plead for their return; and it was during his absence that Baruch Spinoza was excommunicated. Furthermore, modern anti-Semitism is mainly an economic question, and neither is it religious nor political, as the "Jewish Outlook" claims.

It seems preposterous for a Jewish paper to say that Zionists are fostering anti-British sentiment in America. Col. McCormick, of the Chicago Tribune, and Randolph Hearst pre-empted this field to themselves, and they would resent any Jew making incursions into this, their private preserve.

Such moth-eaten authorities as the above, Dr. Rabinowitch shouts from the house-tops of Eskelon, and announces them vociferously and often in the streets of Gath. The Jewish Fellowship albeit belongs to that Jewish gentry, which, chameleon-like, takes on the colorings of the flora and fauna of the surrounding country, and by so doing they hope to elude the hunter. This type of people always says: "Ma ymru Hagoim"? What will the Gentiles say? Night follows day, and since the speaker swallows holus bolus the opinions of the Jewish Fellowship, he must belong to the same ilk. A normal Jew does not worry about what the Gentiles say, so long as he treds the straight and narrow path of equity and fair dealing between man and man.

The Jew, not unlike Jethro, who according to the Pentateuch had seven names, is called all sorts of names. He is called a capitalist, a communist, a slacker, even when his quota in the war was much greater than all the others; he is a miser when he saves; he is ostentatious when he spends; when he talks he is loud; when he is silent he is aloof; so what's the use?

The answer is, that we're living in a veneer civilization, and we're a long way from the millenium, when every person, no matter of what creed or color will have a right to live upon this earth. The day may yet come when the "Four Freedoms" will become a reality and there shall be war no more.

The censor's ban on stories of the ex-Mufti's collaboration with the Nazis was evaded with the publication of the court proceedings of Zvi Goldfarb's trial in Tel Aviv on charges of stoning an Arab bus, during which he related the ex-Mufti's crimes, including participation in extermination of 6,000,000 Jews.

"JEWS DISPOSED OF . . 59,340 — OUR LOSSES . . NONE"

Edwin W. Pauley was President Truman's personal representative in the question of reparations. In a memorandum he sent to his Chief, he describes exhibits at the Nuremburg trial. Here is an excerpt:

"Thus, one report (bound in fanciest of leather covers) made to Himmler on the 'elimination of the Jews from Warsaw' contains daily accounts of the commandant, reciting the "Progress" of each day. One daily account says, 'Jews disposed of . . 59,340—our losses . . none'."

IT MUST NOT HAPPEN AGAIN. IF THERE EVER IS A NEXT TIME. THE JEWS MUST HAVE A HOMELAND IN PALESTINE THAT IS THEIRS. THERE THEY'LL BE ABLE TO FIGHT FOR THEIR LIVES LIKE MEN. AND NOT BE SLAUGHTERED LIKE SHEEP.

They must have their Homeland. There must be no Partition and no restriction on their leading normal national lives, the same kind of normality that is enjoyed by humans who are Canadians or Icelanders or Saudi Arabians. They must have their own country.

The Jews of Palestine have their backs to the wall—and they'll come through. They'll come through because Jews generally have when they fought for their own Cause. Jews have always failed when they tried to appease. We cannot appease and survive.

Join the United Zionists-Revisionists, the only Zionist Party that has adhered loyally to the Jabotinsky ideal and which the Yishuv is now tacitly supporting by their action daily.

The United Zionists-Revisionists, headed by Meir Grossman, insist on an unpartitioned Palestine established as a Jewish State where Arabs and Jews can live in peace and harmony. By joining the Party here, we lend strength and courage to Jews in the Holy Land. It's the least we can do.

Every Young Husband

. . . should answer these questions:

Were the EXPENSES of starting your home greater than you expected? In most cases the answer is "yes." Probably there is a mortgage and other debts. Given time, you can pay them! But they could be a burden to your wife, if something should happen to you. That is one reason why you should have adequate life insurance protection.

Does it matter which COMPANY you insure with? Yes! Life insurance companies are much alike as to policies and rates, but actual long-term results vary widely. Evidence of the satisfaction of Mutual Life policyholders is furnished by the fact that whole families and succeeding generations have entrusted their life insurance programs exclusively to The Mutual Life, and each year approximately 35% of its new business comes from policyholders. Ask your Mutual Life representative to explain the special features of this Company.

one-half cup condensed milk

Cut the marshmallows in quarters, pour boiling water over them, and let stand. Then add the condensed milk, chopped dates and nuts, and graham cracker crumbs, and mix all together. Roll about one cup more of graham cracker crumbs, and sprinkle on a board. Take a little of the mixture at a time and roll into a long roll, making about four rolls. Put in refrigerator overnight, then slice. It is especially nice if coloured marshmallows are used.

and intransigence they could get Arab acquiescence."

Dr. Neumann said the Jewish Agency made a mistake in offering its compromise solution of the problem because there was not the slightest sign of a change evident in the British view.

Bergson Attacks Jewish Agency

Peter H. Bergson, chairman of the Hebrew Committee of National Liberation, commonly known as "the Bergson group," attacked the Jewish Agency for Palestine in a speech in Lawrence, Long Island, N. Y., to sixty persons in the Lawrence High School.

His speech was by way of areply to a broadcast from Jerusalem by a woman announcer, who spoke over a secret station, saying that the Bergson "Group" had not helped any Jew to reach Palestine.

Mr. Bergson said the Jewish Agency for Palestine was the "instigator" of the broadcast, in which he had been called "a false prophet."

"When the shooting and the shooting is all over," Mr. Bergson said, "it will be possible to judge who is a false prophet. The statement about a false prophet was directed by the Jewish Agency which has been conducting a bitter and unscrupulous fight against the Hebrew Committee for National Liberation, which seeks the dissolution of the Jewish Agency as an unnecessary institution."

The Hebrew Committee of National Liberation and the American League for a Free Palestine of New York, were denounced by a woman announcer in an English broadcast of the Zionist "Voice of Israel" radio. The secret station declared that "it is a known fact that this group, working under different names, has not helped any Jew to reach Palestine. Their financial collections are deflected [illegible] to be helping Jewish immigration into Palestine. She declared that the group was irresponsible and dangerous to the Zionist cause.

Gen. Joseph T. McNarney ordered the discharge of all "London" Polish liaison officers serving with American forces.

Collections And Controversies

Jewish life in contemporary North America seems to be dominated by fund-raising on the one hand and acrimonious debates on the other. Now I do rejoice that men are giving of themselves and their means in support of charitable causes. This is all to the good. But, somehow this business of campaigning has almost been elevated to a cult status. Thus, so much of the best energies of our men and women are almost solely spent in this direction. What is more, too many Jews think erroneously, of course, that the collecting of funds in themselves and the writing out of mere cheques constitute the all of Jewish life.

Now, charity is surely part of the great religious tradition of the Jew and I venture to suggest that our pious grandparents gave infinitely more to charity in proportion to what they had than we do today. Their giving was a natural by-product of religious living. Hence, there was no need to attempt "extracting" because all gave in accordance with their means. Even the poorest of the poorest gave. Some gave in secret. It was the highest form of giving. When the Temple existed in Jerusalem there was "the chamber of silence" where the generously inclined brought their gifts and they never knew the recipients.

While in modern Jewish life we have made a splendid record in giving to the agencies of relief both here and abroad, our giving to the cultural and spiritual institutions has not measured up. Jewish scholars are struggling to maintain themselves and Jewish writers, teachers and artists are without real support. With rare exceptions synagogues and rabbis are the last to be remembered in good times and the first to be remembered in days of depression. Communities that rely solely on charity and neglect the study of Torah have indeed little Jewish vitality and they are without a future. Had there been greater spiritual vitality within the Jewish community of America, fund raising for the needy would not prove to be such a herculean task. We must now strive for the greater ascendency of the Jewish soul.

Then what thinking Jewish person does not hunger at the moment for peace within Israel? But, even now, after such loss of life and tragedy that the people of Israel experienced we are a camp divided. If at any time we needed to pray for "Shalom Al Yisroel", it is today. This is no time for personal axe-grinding. The [illegible] of Israel at all times should persuade us to [illegible] and above all else at this time of Israel's crisis, we should unite to build anew in the present and for the future in Eretz Israel as well as in the Diaspora.

The Closed Doors

Toronto Saturday Night says:

We are glad to welcome the Toronto Globe and Mail to the growing list of newspapers which are shocked at the rigidity of Canada's attitude towards the applications for admission of refugees and displaced persons. The Toronto paper's sympathetic feelings were aroused by the picturesque story of the eighteen Estonians who crossed the Atlantic in a 38-foot sloop in order to avoid being returned to their Soviet-dominated homeland. This sympathy led the editor to realize that "Canada is morally bound to accept thousands of European refugees in similar plights. Yet when a mere handful came begging at our door, we turned them away. It was not because they are not the type of settlers this country needs. Estonians, in fact, are considered industrious and enterprising people. They were refused admission because we are still without an operating immigration policy."

In one point the Globe and Mail was slightly less than fair to the Director of Immigration for Canada, Mr. A. L. Joliffe. It remarked that "The Director has the power to say 'No' to almost anybody," which might suggest to some readers that he has the power to say 'Yes' to some of those to whom he actually says No. The truth is that Mr. Jolliffe could not have said anything but No to these particular applicants, because the law and the Department regulations would not have allowed him to; and furthermore this particular case does not greatly distress us, because we are not among those who think that people who adopt a picturesque method of reaching the country should have any more right to enter it than those who come in a normal way. There are actually very few people to whom Mr. Jolliffe is permitted to say Yes, and we fancy that he practically always says it when he is permitted to.

What the Globe and Mail says about the lack of an operating immigration policy is profoundly and absolutely true. A Committee of the Senate inquired into that subject recently and recommended far-reaching changes in the existing policy, which is practically a policy of complete exclusion, tempered by orders-in-council. To delay those changes much longer will result not only in gross inhumanity to thousands of people whose lives might be re-established by admitting them to this country, but also in the permanent loss to Canada of desirable citizens who could be obtained now, with the world in a state of general shake-up, but will not be obtainable in a few years, when they will either have perished or established themselves somewhere else.

It is almost incredible that we should today be enforcing policies which exclude from Canada thousands of excellent people who dislike and distrust the Soviet economico-political system, yet who will be compelled to go to Soviet-dominated countries and live (or die) under that system if they cannot find entry into some country which is capable of absorbing immigration.

Patience And Understanding Needed In Jewish Crisis

The Sherbrooke Daily Record says:

Headlines of the world proclaim the threats of the Jewish underground . . . threats made against the background of violence in the Holy Land.

That such action is harmful to the Jewish cause is recognized by responsible Hebrew leaders, and Dayan H. M. Lazarus, acting Chief Rabbi in the United Kingdom, has called upon British Jews to give any information they have to the police that may help in quelling threatened outbreaks. Thus the Jewish people are being split by differences among themselves, and another chapter is being added to the appalling tragedy of the race.

Those very young men who should be in the forefront of building a new sanctuary in Palestine for their people, are driven underground by the inability of Britain alone to find a solution to this terrible problem, and the refusal of the United States to take any responsibility in the matter, with the exception of statements by President Truman, made meaningless by his refusal to obtain concrete action.

Resentment against terrorist tactics is understandable. But it must be remembered that these are actions of "some Jews" and not "the Jews". The ugly seeds of anti-Semitism sown by Hitler and his Nazi gang are still sprouting in unknowing hearts across the world, and on no account must the present trouble in Palestine, which threatens now to spread, be used to stir up racial feeling against the Jews.

This race has suffered much — almost beyond endurance. Is it so hard to understand that a group of young men, many of whom fought against the Axis, would be driven to bitter disappointment and hot action by the blasting of their dream of a land of their own? Their violence is inexcusable, and when found out should be punished with the full penalty of the law. But let us realize that the Jews, the responsible leaders of whom regard Britain as their best friend, know this, and are trying to avert any bloodshed. The wrath of the world must not be visited on the whole race due to the actions of a few, bitter and desperate men.

Funeral services were held for 36 Jews who died near Tirschenreuth during a forced march. In 1945; 98 Nazis were forced to exhume the bodies from a mass grave.

Calvert · 1622 — MEN OF VISION — Saunders · 1907

At Indian Head, Saskatchewan, in 1907, a field of golden grain flourished despite killing frost. It was Marquis Wheat. To Doctor William Saunders, Father of Canadian Agriculture, founder of the Dominion Experimental Farms, the discovery of Marquis fulfilled a life's work. Today Marquis Wheat thrives for the world's benefit.

Painted for Calvert by Adam Sherriff Scott, R.C.A.

In 1907 SAUNDERS said:
"Be Men of Faith and Progress"

In 1622 CALVERT said:
"Contribute to the Planting"

OVER THREE CENTURIES ago, Calvert said to his settlers: "I came to sow... and cause these counties to be cultivated."

Founder of historic colonies in the New World and famous Secretary of State to King James the First, Calvert may well have foreseen Canada's agricultural progress when he said: "The land will yield us many things if our endeavours are not wanting."

Man of Vision of the 17th century and pioneer of unity, Calvert's ideals have inspired men of vision through the generations since Calvert's time 300 years ago.

The full measure of our stature as a nation depends upon unity of purpose. There is only one Canada for clear-headed Canadians.
